4.1 Policy on absence from class

Your homestay parent/Boarding House Supervisor must contact UIL by 8.45am if you are going to be absent from class. Medical certificates will be required for an absence of two or more days. Students are advised that it is illegal to request and be issued with a medical certificate from a doctor in Australia if they do not have a genuine illness. Medical certificates must state a specific illness or medical condition. Students who produce a large number of medical certificates for absences may be reported to the Department of Immigration. The students will then need to show cause as to why they should continue their studies. The College may also contact the doctor concerned for further clarification on the issuing of medical certificates.

4.2 Policy on being late to class, or leaving early

Students who are late within the first 15 minutes of any session without good reason, will be marked absent for 15 minutes of that session. If a student leaves class 15 minutes before the end of any session they will be marked absent for 15 minutes of that session.

Students who are late by more than 15 minutes to any session, or leave more than 15 minutes early, will be marked absent for that session.

4.3 Policy on unsatisfactory attendance

- When your attendance drops to 85%, you will be given a verbal reminder.
- When your attendance drops to 80%, you will be issued with a written warning notice.

- If your attendance falls below 80% to the point where the 80% minimum attendance requirement over the period of the COE cannot be met, a written Notice of intention to cancel enrolment will be sent to you (and your parents or guardian if you are under 18) informing you of the intention to cancel your enrolment noting the reasons for this intended action and that these actions will not take effect while the internal appeals process is underway unless the student's health or wellbeing or the wellbeing of others is at risk. After this point the relevant government department will be advised of the breach in visa conditions.

Note: medical certificate copies will be kept in your file. They do not give you attendance credit when you have been absent. You are to keep original documents.

27 Homestay / Expectations

27.1 Staying with an Australian

Australian families, like families everywhere, differ from each other in many ways. This is especially so because Australia is a multi-cultural country. People from all over the world, including Europe and Asia, have moved and settled here. There is freedom of religion in Australia and people practice many different religions (for example, Christianity, Buddhism, Islam, Hinduism, Judaism).

The Traditional “White Australian Family” is now a misconception, with many second and third generation families from India, China, Asia and New Zealand. Australians are now a blend of races and cultures with cross nationality blends being the norm. So, you will stay with an Australian Family, but they may not be from a traditional British heritage.

27.2 Behaviour

General good manners in Australia and in Queensland include:

- Saying ‘please’ or ‘may I’ when asking for something
- Saying ‘thank you’ when receiving something
- Saying ‘I’m sorry’ if you make a mistake or upset someone
- Saying ‘excuse me’ when interrupting or walking past someone
- Knocking on doors when entering a room
- Asking before using other people’s property, ie: using the telephone, turning on the television, using the computer, etc and
- Making eye contact wherever possible

27.3 Meals

Australian families usually eat and drink in the kitchen, dining area and lounge room of the home. Sometimes barbecues (BBQs) and picnics are held in outside eating areas of the home or in parks and public places. Males, females and children in Queensland families assist with food preparation, setting and clearing the table, washing and wiping dishes and food items away.

Australian families eat a wide variety of food influenced by other cultures and cooking styles. However, the change in your diet may require an adjustment. If there are any foods that you cannot eat, or foods that you would like to eat, discuss these with your homestay. Your host parents may take you grocery shopping to choose foods from your country to share with your host family.

Breakfast in Australia is often toast, cereal, and/or fruit. Lunch is often sandwiches, salad and fruit. The evening meal is often a hot meal, usually the biggest of the day, and at this time family members may come together and talk about the day, school, etc. For this reason, the evening meal may prove to be a great chance for you to practice your spoken English.

27.4 Everyone helps

In Australia, families do not normally have household help and, often, both parents work. Therefore, it is usual for all members of the family to be expected to help with household tasks. These might include helping with food preparation and clean-up, keeping their own room clean, and washing and ironing their own clothes. In many families, the children prepare their own breakfast and lunch and either the mother or the father prepares the evening meal.

27.5 Australian homes

Most Australian homes have a kitchen, living room (where the family may watch TV, entertain friends etc), bedrooms, laundry and bathroom. The bathroom usually contains a bath or shower or both. Sometimes the toilet is also located in the bathroom and toilet paper, not water, is used.

When Australians bathe, they usually do so in the bath or shower cubicle, so water does not splash on the bathroom floor. If there are many people in the family or if there is a drought, water (especially hot water) may be scarce and family members must limit the length of time they spend bathing. Your host family will talk to you about their system of using the bathroom and will provide you with towels. You will need to buy soap, shampoo, toothpaste and other personal toiletry items.

27.6 Talking with the family

It is normal to feel nervous when you first meet your homestay family. You will begin to feel happier when you get to know the family better. Talking to your homestay family about any worries or questions you have when you first arrive will help you adjust to living in a new country. If you do not speak English well, you can still communicate. Write down what you want to say if your written English is better than your spoken English. Draw a picture of what you want to say. Use your bilingual dictionary. Mime or act out your message or ask another participant to interpret for you.

If you spend most of your time in your room with the door closed, the homestay family may think you do not like them or that you are unhappy. Spend some time each day with the family talking, watching TV, or helping the family with household tasks. Tell the homestay family about your culture and find out about their lives.

27.7 Make the most of your homestay experience

Staying with a homestay family gives you an excellent opportunity to:

- Learn about Australian culture
- Make friends with Australians
- Improve your English language skills
- Share information about your culture, and
- Adjust to a new country while living in a safe and caring environment

- The homestay family will inform you of meal arrangements and use of kitchen.
- Always ask if you would like a second helping of food.
- Please return all homestay lunch boxes, water bottles and cutlery every day.
- In Australia vegetables and fruit are an important part of our diet. It is expected that they will be served at most mealtimes.
- Table manners: Do not put your elbows on the table, do not burp, ask for shared food items to be passed to you if they are out of reach, etc. Do not slurp your food/drink. It is seen as rude and offensive to chew with your mouth open.
- Please let your homestay family know about any plans you are making or if you plan to be away for a meal or don't need lunch.
- It is your responsibility to wake up on time and get ready each day. Confirm the departure time with the homestay family to ensure that you are ready to leave on time.
- Show respect for and be considerate of all members of the family, just as you wish them to show respect and be considerate to you.
- Please try to be part of the family. Saying "hello" and talking about the day are important ways to build communication skills and understanding.
- In nearly all Australian families, basic chores such as washing up, putting the rubbish out and vacuuming are shared. Please be willing to do your share.
- Do not keep your homestay waiting at the end of the day – they will communicate a pick-up time with you.
- You must answer your mobile when homestay, staff or teachers call.
- All electronic devices to be switched off by 9:00pm every night.
- Always ask to use the telephone, please use a telephone card and keep calls short (less than 30 minutes). Remember this phone is for the use of all family members.
- Wi-Fi usage is at the discretion of the homestay family and is not a mandatory requirement for a homestay to provide.
- Please obey the homestay rules regarding the use of their electronic devices and the internet.
- Please discuss with the family their system for locking windows, doors, etc. Security is important, and you share responsibility for this.
- Ask your homestay family for permission before inviting friends over to visit. Friends of the opposite gender can only visit but are not allowed in your bedroom.
- If the family invite you to join an activity and you would prefer not to do so, it is ok to refuse politely.
- Be aware and abide by the Laws of Australia, for example, wearing bicycle helmets, wearing seatbelts in cars, smoking and consumption of alcohol in public places.
- You are required to pay for any damages or repairs to furniture and fittings of your host family's home, and any phone/internet bills, incurred during your stay. Your host family is required to submit any claims and details to UIL within one month of your departure. You will be invoiced by UIL, payable on receipt of an invoice.

- If you miss the last bus to get home by curfew then you should call the emergency number as provided on your UIL study tour participant card.
- The details of your homestay family are on the homestay card that you have received from UIL.
- UIL are responsible for your guardianship and welfare. As a result, we must know where you are at all times. You must tell your homestay where you are going before you leave the house.
- It is advised that you do not carry large amounts of money on your person. This can be kept at UIL.

28.6 Public places

- As cars drive on the left side of the road, people moving forward will generally go to the left as well. When walking on the pavement (usually called the 'footpath'), one should walk on the left, whenever possible. When travelling on escalators or moving walkways, one should keep to the right when walking, or keep to the left when standing.
- When using public transport, it is rude to board before letting other passengers disembark. It is polite to move from the aisle to the window seat if it is vacant, to allow other passengers to sit down easily.
- Trains and buses in all states of Australia have seats set aside for elderly and disabled people. Sitting in these seats is acceptable but these seats should be offered to the people they are set aside for.
- Spitting is totally unacceptable and can attract on-the-spot fines from police.
- Littering, that is dropping your rubbish as you walk or drive along, is frowned upon and also makes you liable to on-the-spot fines.
- When getting off a bus you may choose to say thank you to the driver, especially if they have been polite, although it is not bad manners if you don't.
- When entering someone's home, ask if you should remove your shoes.
- Queuing (getting in line) is polite in stores, post offices, banks, public transport stops and entertainment venues. It is rude to cut in ahead of others.
- Be polite. Use 'please' and 'thank you' frequently.
